  - a. Terry Lee Armstrong (W39, 007), 02-Nov-68 (1st to die by tiger), Operation Binh Tay-MacArthur was a U.S. Army 4th Infantry Division and 173rd Airborne Brigade military operation in the Central Highlands of South Vietnam conducted between October 12, 1967 and January 31, 1969. The 4th Infantry Division was responsible for the defense of the provincial and district capitals that lay along Highway QL-14, a paved road running north to south through the middle of the Central Highlands. West of the highway lay the Cambodian border where several outlets of the southern Ho Chi Minh Trail fed supplies and replacements for the enemy from several large bases. Throughout Pleiku Province, units from the 4th Infantry Division would set up defensive positions to stem the flow of men and material of the North Vietnamese Army. On the early morning of November 2, 1968, a short-range patrol (SRP) consisting of four men from Third Platoon, A Company, 2nd Battalion (Mechanized), 8th Infantry, were set up in a night defensive position in dense jungle by the side of a trail, approximately four miles southwest of Oasis Air Field. At around 3:00 AM, the patrol heard movement nearby as an Indochinese tiger approached their position. The powerful cat pounced onto the soldier on alert, PFC Terry L. Armstrong, and carried him away. The other members of the patrol reported feeling the tiger brush by them as it lunged at their companion and that Armstrong never made a sound. In shock and disbelief, they began quietly calling Armstrong's name. Another SRP set up nearby came over to help find the missing man. They radioed their command post which told them to hang tight until daylight. At 6:00 AM, Third Platoon arrived in M113 armored personnel carriers (APC's). After a short search, they located Armstrong's remains. They were collected and transported back to the company's perimeter and later flown to a Graves Registration collection point.

b. Francis Baldino (W39, 063), 14-Nov-68, PFC Baldino was a rifleman assigned to D Company, 1st Battalion, 4th Marines. On November 14, 1968, his unit was running ambushes out of LZ Alpine on a well-traveled trail familiar to the Marines. This same trail had been heavily traveled by NVA from information provided from reconnaissance patrols run in the previous days. At about 2145 hours PFC Baldino was acting as his patrol's RTO three paces behind the patrol leader when he was attacked and carried off by an Indochinese tiger. His remains were found the next morning under some bushes. Other patrols were sent in and saw two tigers in the area but were unable to get a shot at them. The 3rd Division Marine commander ordered an organized hunt with an experienced big game hunter to find the killer. A Vietnamese national from Quang Tri City, experienced in tiger hunting, was located, and accompanied by five Marine snipers, began the search for the predator. A squad of Marines was also present for security, and a company was on alert at a nearby base. The team located tracks in the area which indicated that up to four tigers inhabited the remote valley where PFC Baldino was killed.

c. Gerald Ray Olmsted (W35, 066), 10-Jan-69, Gerald served with A company, 3 Bn, 8 INF, 4 INF DIV. He died while on a night recon patrol when attacked by a tiger.

d. Robert Crain Phleger (W11, 127), 07-May-70, Sgt Phleger was a ground radio repairer serving with 1st Force Recon Company, 1st Marine Division, joining them from one of the Marine Corp's force service regiments at a time when there was a critical need for school-trained radio technicians in 1st Force Recon. SGT Phleger requested assignment to one of the operational recon teams, and after adjusting well to life in the bush as a recon team member, he was eventually put in charge of his own team. On May 5, 1970, his seven-man Team Rock Mat was inserted near Razorback Ridge, 25 miles northwest on Da Nang in Quang Nam Province, RVN. There the team began a five-day reconnaissance patrol by climbing the ridge to gain the high ground for better observation and communications. Atop the narrow ridgeline, the men stretched out single file, with Phleger as the last man at the end of the line. At 2000 hours, some members of the team heard a sudden rushing movement in the brush accompanied by several short muffled screams from Phleger. The team, unable to find him after searching the immediate area in total darkness, waited until dawn. At first light, Phleger's sleeping position became visible with his rifle, pack, gas mask, and cartridge belt laid out. Leading away from his area was his bush cover and camouflaged poncho liner cover in blood. Following drag marks down the slope, the team found Phleger's remains besides a large bush. While inspecting what was left of his body, they were surprised by the roar of an Indochinese tiger. Several of the Marines fired at the tiger, but it ran from the scene without being hit. The large cat returned again while the team was prepping for extraction, the Marines firing once more and tossing a fragmentation grenade in its direction. The team was extracted later that morning from a lower portion of Razorback Ridge, the remains of Phleger wrapped in a poncho. He was taken to the graves registration section of 1st Medical Battalion in Da Nang.

85. The Wall represents a ‘cut’ or ‘gash’, in the earth , as 21-year old Maya Lin envisioned the field being peeled back to reveal the open wound that was Vietnam and our loss. Black represents earth, granite a permanent separation of the living and the dead, polished granite reflects the images of the living in the lives of those who died for our freedom. The names would tell the story of a ‘Journey’ and that Vets could come back to their own place in the ‘Journey’. The ‘first’ and the ‘last’ meet at the apex of the Memorial - Closure. Didn’t want The Wall to look like a telephone book. Approximately $9 million raised for the Memorial. All funds were from private contributions.
86. The grassy area in front of The Wall and on the top of the memorial are supposed to represent ‘healing’... as grass would grow right up to The Wall. (Sidewalk added, but at opening ceremonies there was grass between Wall and sidewalk. Maya Lin noted that the pain of loss heals over time (the grass), but never truly goes away (the Wall itself). The panels read like pages in a book - left column justified on the East panels, right column justified on the western panels - artistically like an open book. The names, as they write the history of the war - like a diary - day by day, become the monument itself. The names are alphabetical by last name on days with more than 1 casualty.

87. Maya was a Yale undergraduate majoring in architecture. She received a B+ on the project when submitted at school. 1,421 entries in total were submitted in the 1980-81 contest and the winner selected by a panel of 8 internationally recognized landscape architects (3), sculptors (3), and architects (2). No Vietnam Vets on the panel of judges.
88. Maya was born in Athens, OH. Her parents (both university professors) had fled China - and became professors at Ohio University in Athens, OH.
89. 59 US Civilian women died in Vietnam - 37 of them in plane crash with Mary Klinker. No civilians 'officially' listed on the Wall - but 1 listed by mistake.
90. Goodacre left open to interpretation the meaning of the 3 uniformed women at the Women's Memorial. But some suggest they represent 'Hope', 'Despair' and 'Compassion'. There are 8 trees planted around memorial in honor of the 8 military women who died. Goodacre said that in her mind the soldier does NOT die.
91. 'In Memory Day', scheduled for Father's Day, Sunday, 20-June-2015 - honors those men and women who died as a result of their service in Southeast Asia whose names were not eligible to be added to The Wall. Christmas Tree Ceremony; Sunday; 13-Dec-2015 at 1100 hours - hosted by the Volunteers.

108. West Virginia had the highest casualty rate per capita in the nation. There are 727 West Virginians on the Wall.
109. The Marines of Morenci - They led some of the scrappiest high school football and basketball teams that the little Arizona copper town of Morenci (pop. 5,058) had ever known and cheered. They enjoyed roaring beer busts. In quieter moments, they rode horses along the Coronado Trail, stalked deer in the Apache National Forest. And in the patriotic camaraderie typical of Morenci's mining families, the nine graduates of Morenci High enlisted as a group in the Marine Corps. Their service began on Independence Day, 1966. Only 3 returned home.
110. The Buddies of Midvale - LeRoy Tafoya, Jimmy Martinez, Tom Gonzales were all boyhood friends and lived on three consecutive streets in Midvale, UT on Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Avenues. They lived only a few yards apart. They played ball at the adjacent sandlot ball field. And they all went to Vietnam. In a span of 16 dark days in late 1967, all three would be killed. LeRoy was killed on Wednesday, Nov 22, the fourth anniversary of John F. Kennedy's assassination. Jimmy died less than 24 hours later on Thanksgiving Day. Tom was shot dead assaulting the enemy on Dec 7, Pearl Harbor Remembrance Day.
